NEWS AND COMMENTS.

THE typical Southern September weather has been with us for a while.

THE Wilmington Star is 25 years old. There are a great many men in this world who are a long way over 25 years old—who, if each one had accomplished as much for humanity in his individual life as the Star has in its journalistic career, would have monuments reared above them as high as the spire of Strasbourg Cathedral when they died—but then, you see, the Star is not going to die for a long while yet.

"KAISER WILLIAM says he didn't mean any reflection on NAPOLEON by his recent reference to him as a 'Corsican parvenu,' the remark being made 'without due reflection.'" This is comforting. Kaiser WILLIAM is, in some respects, a big man; but we believe that it has been reserved for the "small potatoes" of the Bourbon family to speak slightingly of the most extraordinary man recorded in history.

"THE News and Observer comes to us this week enlarged, and in a handsome new dress." That's the only objection that, as artistic printers, we ever had to the News and Observer. It has been the slouchiest paper we ever saw; but, in its shabby way of going around, it has done the best work for the Democratic party of any paper ever published in the State. We hope its new dress—dudish, take it altogether—will not make the paper less effective as the Democratic organ of North Carolina.

SUICIDE—which, rightly or not, Christian ethics make the worst of all sins—is always a tragedy; but, in the case of BALMACEDA, it was the climax of tragedies. BALMACEDA was not a bad man, except in the overweening ambition which cost THOMAS a'BECKET his life, and brought from WOOLSEY's broken heart his plaint to the monks with whom he sought refuge in adversity; but what must have been the writhings of that tortured soul which—never in all the vicissitudes of a distracted government showing cowardice—sought surcease of sorrow by the sundering of the flesh from the spirit!

A GERMAN poet of prominence in his own country has just been sent to the insane asylum—his great mind wrecked and tossed in inextricable confusion, "like sweet bells jangled, out of tune and harsh," from over-work. There is little doubt that excessive mental strain is increasing the records of insanity; but we must not charge all the bill to that. Men are every day wrecking their bodies (leading just as surely to insanity) and outraging God's natural laws, in the high pressure under which this age is living. Why is it? Is the end coming soon, and has poor humanity premonition of the awful "consummation of all things mortal?" It would seem so. Business is carried on at high pressure; so with politics; so with all the social pleasures to which enlightened people are given. The world is living too fast; nature—inexorable—turns this sphere on its axis with immutable precision—but the great Creator is rebuking man every day for his sinfulness, and he reeks not of it. The "age of progress" is the 'age of sinful, indecent haste to moral ruin."

"SENATOR RANSOM has just arrived in Washington from North Carolina where the Farmers' Alliance is particularly active. He says that the Alliance does not threaten the Democratic party, and that the fight is merely between two factions of the party for supremacy. What the Alliance faction is fighting for in North Carolina, he says, is to get control of the party, not to destroy it. He does not see that there is any third party in it." Is Senator RANSOM exactly clear here? "Two factions of the party for supremacy." What party? The Democratic party? Are there any factions there? We do not know of them. The Alliance? It is not a party. It is an organization for the protection of the agricultural interests of the whole country; and, at the South, it is an organization mainly within the Democratic party. The whole truth of the matter is that there are "gladiators in politics," who would fain put the party and the organization "by the ears." We believe that there is too much sense on both sides to render it possible. The Democratic party is fighting for the supremacy of good government; the Alliance is fighting for plain rights which a just government would have conceded to them long ago:—working together, both will succeed.

THE English sparrow must go—that is, from the fertile fields of Illinois, the legislature of that State having passed an order of extermination against this marauder. The writer happened to be standing in Union Square, New York City, in the year 1872, when the park commissioners turned loose a consignment of these birds on the beautiful grounds of that pleasance; but we are not prepared to say that it was the first importation of the English sparrow to this country. It is our impression, however, that it was. Opinions differ as to the character of this little bird—some considering him an unmitigated pest, and others declaring that, while a voracious grain-feeder, he is a very valuable scavenger of insects. He is certainly very industrious, whether for good or evil, and has a familiarity of approach and a lack of "offishness" which is charming, because so rare, in a bird. Of his pugnacity there can be no doubt: he is a murderous little wretch in all the field of ornithological creation, second only to the "butcher bird." We know a very intelligent Englishman "not a thousand miles from here" who is his staunch defender; but, arraying all the facts against him, we are inclined to believe that the Illinois statutory warefare against the English sparrow is a righteous crusade.

BALMACEDA'S DEATH.

The ex-President of Chile Blows Out His Brains.

Ex-President Balmaceda, of Chile, shot himself through the temple in his room at the Argentine Legation in Santiago. When the story became known the greatest excitement prevailed. Every part of the city was brilliantly illuminated, and on every hand were heard the sounds of rejoicing.

His intention had been to go on board the vessel Condell, which he expected to find lying in San Antonia Bay. Upon arriving there, however, he discovered to his chagrin that the torpedero had sailed.

Since his return to the Argentine Legation, in Santiago, Balmaceda had been in an extremely nervous condition. No one, with the exception of the Minister of the Argentine Republic and one other man, who was devoted to the unfortunate ex-President's cause, was permitted to talk to or even see him. All the different schemes of flight were considered by the hunted ex-President.

Senor Urriburia had a long and earnest talk with Balmaceda relative to the latter's ideas previously broached, about the advisability of giving himself up to the junta. Balmaceda and Senor Urriburia went to bed at midnight.

Senora Urriburia heard a pistol-shot in the bed-room that had been assigned to Balmaceda, and notified her husband. Before he went to Balmaceda's room he ran round to the house of Carlos Walker Martinez, and brought that gentleman back to the legation. Upon breaking in the door of Balmaceda's room he found that he had shot himself, and the body was still warm. There was a gaping wound in the temple. The body was undressed, lying on the bed, and the revolver was still held in his right hand.

The junta had the Argentine Legation guarded by troops to prevent an attack on the part of the people, but everything was quiet at Santiago. Balmaceda's body was removed to the general cemetary, and was accompanied by numbers of his friends. The widow of the dead ex-President was informed of his tragic death by her brother, Domingo Torro. There was a guard stationed at the cemetery. An intendente kept order.

BALMACEDA'S CAREER.

The stormy life thus brought to an end began in Santiago fifty-one years ago. Jose Manual Balmaceda was the dead usurper's full name. He came of an ancient family, rich, well-known and of high standing in Chilean affairs. It was the intention of his parents that he should have become a priest, and to that end he was carefully educated at the Seminario Concilias, of Santiago. But the young man had other ideas for himself. There was at the time a political society in Santiago called the Club de la Reforma, composed of hot-headed young men who wanted to change or overthrow the constitution by which Chile had been governed since 1830. Balmaceda joined it. By the time he was 28 years of age young Balmaceda was known throughout Chile as a coming man. He was elected a deputy to the Chilean congress, and took part in all the debates.

When President Santa Maria took up Balmaceda in 1885, and made him the national minister of foreign affairs he greatly strengthened his administration and gratified the nation. Balmaceda was very popular. The next year the popular minister became his party's candidate for president, and was elected by an overwhelming majority.

For the first three years the leaders who had applauded Balmaceda's candidacy and helped him to his success were in complete harmony with his ideas and methods. In these three years the progress of Chile was greater than in any like time in her history. All this pleasant situation was completely changed in one year. From the most popular man in Chile Balmaceda became in twelve months, among a very large number of his fellow-citizens, the most cordially hated. The sole instrument in this change was Balmaceda himself.

What a Jelly-cake Did.

We read an amusing account in the New York Advertiser of what that paper styles a jelly-cake war, at Springfield, Ill. The account goes on to state, upon its advices, that a boot and shoe firm offered a five-hundred-dollar piano as a special premium for the best jelly-cake, and 600 Sangamon county women entered cakes in the contest.

After sitting on the jelly cakes—in a strictly judicial sense, of course—the committee, with an injudiciousness which could only have been superinduced by indigestion, awarded the piano to Mrs. Sam Willet, whose cake was chiefly composed of angels' food, and, therefore, open to the charge of not being strictly in the jelly-cake class. But what did the committee, full of jelly and angel-cake, know or care about this? The angel-cake, with its layers of jelly alternating from turret to foundation-stone, so to speak, was fair to look upon, and the committee fell a victim to its wiles. The 599 women who had constructed real jelly-cakes were loud in their protest. They denounced the angel-food cake, despite its celestial name, as a deceitful and devilish device. One lady, well up on topics of the track, denounced it as a "ringer," and entered, with the others, a formal protest against the decision of the jelly-cake committee, the members of which had by this time won the title of the "Jelly-headed Jays."

Thus the matter rests, if the word "rests" is not wholly out of place in describing a situation where excitement and unrest holds sway from one end of Sangamon county to the other. The whole country is being scoured for expert evidence as to what constitutes a jelly-cake. Delmonico's testimony has been sought by telegraph; and, as it has a leaning towards the Mrs. Sam Willet cake, some Springfield man may again be obliged to call out the troops.

JAMES BUCHANAN.

Why the Bachelor President Never Married.

Minneapolis Tribune.]

A Minneapolis lady told me the other day the true reason why James Buchanan, the President of the United States immediately preceding Abraham Lincoln, never married. She used to live at Lancaster, Penn., and it was near this little city that James Buchanan lived and died. I quote this lady's own words:

"When I was a young girl, and, later, a young lady at home, I knew Mr. Buchanan quite well. Father was one of his intimate friends, and used to spend a good deal of his time—in fact, nearly all his Sunday afternoons—at Mr. Buchanan's country-place, 'Wheatland,' about a mile from Lancaster. He was at the wedding of one of my sisters; and I well remember the expression of his face, and the twinkle in his eye, as he quoted the old saying to my eldest sister: 'When a younger sister is married first the older has to sit on the fence, and wait her turn. You must dance in your stocking feet to-night.'

"He was a tall, fine-looking man, with silvery, white hair, generally dressed in black broadcloth, with black satin vest, and wore the old-fashioned high linen collar. One of his noticeable personal peculiarities was carrying his head drooped a little and to one side.

"He told my father about his love affair, and I have heard the particulars several times. He was engaged to Miss Coleman, of Lancaster; and there also lived Miss Rose Hubley—very much in love with him, and mortally jealous of her favored rival. The course of true love was running all smoothly for the enamored twain till Miss Hubley came between them. On one occasion Mr. Buchanan, having been out of town on business, returned late in the afternoon; and, as he was passing the residence of Miss Hubley, she called him in. He remained there for a few minutes, and then went, direct, home to supper.

"As frequently happens, some gossiping neighbor spoke of this, or perhaps Miss Hubley took pains to let her rival know where her lover had made his first call after reaching the city. At any rate, Miss Coleman deeply resented it, and when Mr. Buchanan called she declined to see him. However, there was a sort of truce made, and Buchanan went to Philadelphia on the following morning with her father—the understanding being that she was to follow on a later train, and accompany them to the theatre. When the hour came she seemed not herself, hesitated, and finally declined to fulfil the engagement or meet Mr. Buchanan. The two went to the theatre without her, and when they returned to the hotel she was a corpse. Heart disease was given as the cause.

"Miss Hubley, who lived an old maid, suffered—retributably, perhaps—an awful fate. She was standing before an open grate, warming her hands, when her clothing took fire, and she was burned to death. Mr. Buchanan never forgot Miss Coleman. He asked that he be buried in Woodlawn Cemetery when he died because it was to that beautiful spot that they took their walks as lovers.

"James Buchanan, with all his culture and statesmanship, was a very modest man. The Presbyterians had a silver engraved plate put on his pew—which the great Democratic ex-President never liked, as being too ostentatious."

The President of the Georgia Alliance Talks Well.

"I aver, as President of the State Alliance, there is not one single 'smidgen' of treason to the Democratic party, or against the government, within an Alliance lodge. There never has been and there never will be, I do not suppose.

"We have found that the man who goes around stirring up strife, getting up division, is a curse to our order.

"For God's sake let us stop. There is but one way out of the trouble, and that is by united effort on the part of every single man in this whole country. Our enemies want a division. Our enemies laugh in their sleeves, and gloat to see us divided. They say as long as we keep the lawyers and the merchants and the farmers fighting each other we will manage the finances and the commerce and the politics to suit ourselves. And here we are, a set of fools, if you will excuse me; every man engaged in it a natural-born fool, and if he follows it any longer he is a knave. Here we are, fighting each other, while our enemies gloat over it, fattening over our dissensions.

"There is another reason why we cannot afford it. Lying down under the social fabric of this country is a combustible element we cannot get rid of, and we must stand united.

"I am going to tell you the truth to-night. Gentlemen of the Democratic party, if you don't get to harmony; Alliance people if you don't get down to harmony, if you don't track that line, this country is gone, and your liberties are gone with it."

Wings By and By.

"Walter," said a gentleman on a ferry-boat to a poor, helpless cripple, "how is it, when you cannot walk, that your shoes got worn?"

A blush came over the poor boy's pale face; but, after hesitating a moment, he said: "My mother has younger children, sir; and while she is out washing, I amuse them by creeping about the floor and playing."

"Poor boy!" said a lady standing near, not loud enough, as she thought, to be overheard. "What has he in all the future to look forward to?"

The tear started in his eye, and the bright smile that chased it away showed that he did hear her. As she passed by him to step on shore he said, in a low voice, but with a smile: "I am looking forward to having wings some day, lady."

Happy Walter! Poor, crippled and dependent on charity, yet performing his mission; doing, in his measure, the Master's will, patiently waiting for the future, he shall, by and by, "mount up with wings as eagles; shall run, and not be weary; shall walk, and not be faint."

A DOOMED RACE.

Chicago Journal.]

Amongst our immigrants from foreign shores there is one class which will soon be faring worse than the persecuted Jews of Russia. They did not come to win our gold and spend it in foreign lands; they do not take the bread from the mouths of our laborers, nor stand in defiance of the powers of government. They are too noisy and quarrelsome, perhaps, but otherwise they are a decent and industrious kind. Yet they are doomed to be hunted from street to street and from house to house; a price is set upon their heads; every man's hand is against them, and no court of justice will listen to their appeal.

This unfortunate race is the English sparrow. The law of extermination went into effect against the sparrows in Illinois the first day of July. Thousands of boys have perhaps provided themselves with slingshots in readiness for the slaughter, believing that each sparrow's head will be worth two cents to them. If so, the boys for the present will be disappointed. There is no bounty for English sparrows killed at this season of the year, but only for those killed in the months of December, January and February.

The chief complaint against the English sparrow is that he drives away all the gentle singing birds which are dear to the hearts of the people. He does not invade the roads and fields, but within his own chosen domain he brooks no rival. The robin is almost the only bird that defies his arrogant claims. In declaring war upon the sparrow the legislature was careful not to furnish the sportsmen with an excuse for slaughtering native birds along with the British intruders. Accordingly, the reward offered for sparrows' heads can only be claimed during the winter months, when the blue-birds, the finches and the native song-sparrows have flown to lands of perpetual summer. Moreover, killing a bird for which a bounty is claimed other than the English sparrow will subject the claimant to a fine of $5; and, as the officials are not always versed in ornithology, instructions are to be sent out for the purpose of enabling them to distinguish a sparrow's head from that of the crow and other native birds.

The English sprrrow did yeoman service for a time in exterminating certain caterpillars and other insect pests; but republics are said to be ungrateful, and the good deeds of man or bird are soon forgotten. If the sparrow could but learn to live in peace and harmony with his neighbors he might dwell unmolested in our midst, but his quarrelsome and aggressive nature has brought upon him a terrible retribution. He will be murdered at sight without warning. Everyone is presumed to know the law, and if the sparrow does not quit the borders of the State before December he must take the consequences.

Strange Position in Death.

St. Louis Republic.]

During the late Civil War a detachment of United States soldiers, foraging around Goldsboro, N. C., came suddenly upon a small band of Southern troops, who had dismounted. These latter immediately jumped into their saddles, and all scampered away except one, after being exposed to one round of firing. The soldier who did not escape was seen standing upright, with one foot in the stirrup of his saddle. In his left hand he held the bridle and the horse's mane, while his right hand grasped his rifle near the muzzle, the stock being on the ground. The horseman's head was turned toward the right shoulder, apparently watching the approach of the enemy.

Some of the Union soldiers were preparing to fire again, when their officer ordered them to desist, and to make the defiant man a prisoner. The man was then ordered to surrender. When he was approached it was found that he was stone dead and perfectly rigid in the attitude described above. It took a considerable effort to force his left hand to release the horse's mane, and to remove the rifle from the right hand. When the body was laid upon the ground the limbs preserved the same position and the same inflexibility. The man had been struck by two balls fired from Springfield rifles. One of these had entered to the right of the spinal column, and had made its exit from the body near the region of the heart. It had left a slight indentation in the saddle, and then dropped to the ground. The horse remained unhurt, having stood the fire because tied to a tree by a halter.

The following is another incident: At the battle of Williamsburg Dr. T. P. Reed examined the body of a United States Zouave who had received a ball in the forehead just as he was climbing over a low fence. Like the Goldsboro case above, this man had preserved the last attitude of his life. One of his legs was half over the fence, while his body remained behind. One hand was raised level with his forehead, with the palm forward, as if to ward off some imminent danger.

Inventor Edison's Big Fortune.

Troy Times.]

The recent decision of the United States courts puts $14,000,000 into Thos. A. Edison's pocket. Never before has any decision brought such an inundation of wealth. Edison sued a company which had been using his invention; and, after six years of litigation, he has triumphed. The defendants were making enormous profits, which they must now turn over to the fortunate electrician. Edison is the richest inventor the world ever saw. Some ingenious calculators have been trying to figure up his income, and they have reckoned the different inventions until they are tired, without touching bottom. It would not be surprising if it were almost as large as Jay Gould's. Mr. Edison, by the way, has set himself to writing a novel. That it will be a unique work is to be expected. He will have no difficulty in finding a publisher.

Order of Publication of Summons and Attachment in November Term, 1891, of Cumberland Superior Court, N. C.

IT being made to appear to the satisfaction of the Court by affidavit, that a cause of action exists in favor of the plaintiff against the defendants J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering, partners, under firm of Hagy & Co., for the sum of $500 due by their acceptance of draft drawn on them, for value, in favor of plaintiff by defendant H. W. Steinhilper, in his own name and as Star Lumber Company, at 30 days after date, June 20th, 1891, duly presented for payment, not paid, and protested for non payment; and that the plaintiff is entitled to recover said sum over and above all counter-claims known to plaintiff; and that this court has jurisdiction of the subject of this action; that summons has been issued and served upon H. W. Steinhilper by the Sheriff of Cumberland County, N. C., who returns that J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering are not to be found in this county; that the said Hagy and Levering are non residents of the State and cannot after due diligence be found in the State, but have property in this State and County, subject to Attachment, to-wit: lumber; and that an Attachment has been issued in this cause returnable on Monday, of November Term next, of this Court, being the 16th of November, 1891, and has been levied on said property in the possession of defendant David Gibb, agent of his co-defendants, at Manchester, in this county; and that the non-resident defendants, J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering have, or claim to have an interest in said property.

On motion of plaintiff, it is ordered by the Court, that the service be made by publication in the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER, once a week for six weeks, for J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering to appear and answer or demur to the complaint in this cause, at the Court-House in Fayetteville, N. C., at November Term next, commencing the 16th of November, 1891.

Done at office in Fayetteville, N. C. this 8th day of September, 1891.

Improvements.

OUR DUTY, PURE AND SIMPLE.

To the people of Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships, the early construction and rapid completion of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad to Aberdeen is of paramount importance to all other matters now claiming their attention, public or private.

We make this statement, not for any idle boasting, but with a full knowledge of the multifarious advantages and incontrovertible blessings that must of necessity acure to the tax-pays of both townships upon the building of the road. From the tone of their remarks, the people of Fayettevile, be it said to their credit, are practically unanimous in favor of the subscription, primarily for the reason that it will open up commercial relations with a rich and unexplored territory, abounding in agricultural, timber and mineral resources, and which once made Fayetteville its trade centre; while Seventy-First would not only be benefitted by the additional transportation facilities thus afforded, and the addition of between sixty and eighty thousand dollars tax valuation of property, but the certain development of large timbered and Naval store interests, which, by virtue of its inaccessibility at present, must otherwise lie dormant for an indefinite period.

That we will encounter opposition is reasonable to suppose; but let it only nerve us for the fight. To the people of these two townships it is the opportunity of a lifetime; and once the subscription is ratified and endorsed by Cross Creek and Seventy-First, we have no fears but that Quewhiffle will do her part. To do otherwise would be a perceptible departure from anything in the past.

Anticipating the fears and suspicion always entertained by some that the bonds might be misapplied, for the protection of the tax-payers in the townships for which the election has been ordered, the directors of the Fayetteville & Abemarle Railroad Company, in special session here Tuesday, unanimously adopted the following:

"Whereas the board of Commissioners of Cumberland county, N. C., in accordance with the provisions of the charter of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad Company, and at the request of the citizens and tax-payers of Cross Creek and Seventy-first townships, in said county, have directed an election to be held in said townships, at which the qualified voters shall vote on a proposition for Cross Creek township to subscribe $20,000.00, and for Seventy-first township to subscribe $10,000. to the capital stock of this company, which subscription if approved, is to be paid in bonds to be issued as the law directs; and

WHEREAS, Questions have been asked as to how said bonds are to be held and at what stage of the work the same are to be turned over to this Company; therefore, be it,

Resolved, That, in order to satisfy the minds of voters on this subject, this Company, by and through its board of directors, do covenant and agree with the board of commissioners of Cumberland county, for and on behalf of said townships, that all bonds issued to pay such subscription as may be approved by the voters, will not be demanded or called for until at least thirty miles of the proposed road, from Fayetteville westward, has been graded; and until the grading shall have been completed on said thirty miles, the bonds are to be held by the Treasurer of Cumberland county, and then to be delivered under the direction of the county commissioners of said county."

Now, if the English language counts for anything, the above action of the board of directors of the F. & A. R. R., Col. W. S. Cook, chairman of the board of county commissioners, present, will convince the most skeptical that the bonds shall be applied to the purpose and objects for which they are to be voted and issued.

On the same subject we invite your attention and consideration this week to an able and well-written article elsewhere, on the very great importance of pushing this matter to a successful end.

THE REACTION.

There is a very decided reaction going on in the South to-day, and it will soon be again normally and solidly Democratic. Two weeks ago the Tennessee Legislature, which is an Alliance body, was polled as to the Ocala platform and a majority disapproved it. Yesterday a resolution was introduced in the Georgia Legislature to adopt the Ocala platform and the resolution was defeated by a vote of 81 to 63, in a body, more than three-fourths of whom are Alliance men. These facts right in the face of a progressive campaign by Pfeffer, Simpson & Co., and others, are very significant. The campaign of these men is evidently turning out to be a boomerang, for the intelligence of the farmers is beginning to assert itself. The sooner the Southern people drop the Ocala platform the better.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Right here it may not be amiss to remark that the OBSERVER has always "banked" on the assertion, in the end, of the intelligence and good judgment of the farmers throughout the country, whose allegiance to the fundamental principles of Democracy we hope never to see broken by foreign emissaries, who come hither for no other purpose than to excite the passions and inflame the prejudices of our "native and to the manner born" citizens against their real friends and the best interests of the South for selfish purposes and individual agrandisement. As for the sub-treasury bill, the fact that it is the legitimate child of Macune, and daddled by others whose financial ideas have so often proved a dismal failure, is sufficient to arouse the greatest suspicion on the part of the people as to the practicability of its enactment into a law by Congress, granting its constitutionality which, however, has been questioned by many of the brightest minds of the country.

ISSUES OF THE DAY.

Ex-Judge R. P. Buxton, of Fayetteville, is to be urged upon Harrison, as the successor of Judge Seymour, as District Judge of the United States Court. What is the matter with Judge Seymour? We had supposed that he had made an exceptionally good Judge, and he is surely a man of ability. Judge Buxton is a very decent North Carolinian, but is not equal to Seymour in legal ability unless we are much in error.—Wilmington Messneger.

Inasmuch as the matter first appeared in the OBSERVER, we will state for the benefit of Dr Kingsbury that Judge Buxton is not to be urged as Judge Seymour's successor only in the event of the latter's promotion and appointment to the Circuit Court Judgeship, or Court of Appeals, as the case may be.

Flea Hill Covers Herself with Glory—Hon. B. F. Grady Takes a Bold Stand Against the Third Party.

The picnic at Flea Hill yesterday was a grand success in every particular. The crowd in attendance was estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000, while the dinner was one of the finest spreads we ever saw, the tables groaning under the weight of everything to tickle the palate and delight the fancy. Hon. B. F. Grady, orator of the occasion, was appropriately introduced by Maj. Jonathan Evans, and made a telling speech of an hour and a half, eliciting praise on every hand for the forcible manner in which he presented the issues of the day, and the conciliatory tone of his remarks. His bold and outspoken stand against the third party was well received and loudly cheered by the entire assembly. In the afternoon Mr. A. D. McGill, of whom Cumberland is proud anywhere and on all occasions, was next introduced and made a splendid talk, which was listened to with marked attention throughout—just such a speech as the average Highland Scotchman always makes.

Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad.

For the Observer.]

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The article of "Citizen" in your last issue was timely and to the point. The vital interest of the entire western section of this county, and especially of Cross Creek, bring us face to face with the fact that something must be done, and that quickly. It is but necessary that we open our eyes to present conditions and surroundings to see that other sections are going ahead of us, and we must wake up, and keep time to the music of progress or we will surely "be left."

The building of the Fayetteville & Albemarle road, presents an opportunity, the consequences of which are vital and far-reaching to the benefit or detriment of Cross Creek, Seventy-First and Quewhiffle townships.

If the effort is not made, the remaining energies of our people will relapse into inertness and absolute despair. People who want to, and will try, would then "give up," and a dark future will be before us.

On the other hand, if the effort is successfully made and the subscriptions are carried, it will give new life and energy, and a resulting impetus, that will brook no opposition, but sweep forward to a successful issue.

We may expect opposition—the human mind is so constituted. We may look for "the croaker" who will be abroad in the land, and we need not be very diligent in our search either. These things we shall have, but they should not discourage us. The necessities of our situation; the feasibility of the work intended, and the immeasurable benefits to be derived. An eminent and progressive citizen of our town, now deceased, one said that "Fayetteville should have roads commencing in town and terminating at the foot of a tree!"—local feeders—and this gentleman was noted as a successful business man, of large wealth, a close observer, mature judgment and extended information—and he was right—his words seem prophetic, for now Fayetteville is suffering for the need of the very help, which this gentleman said years ago, "she must have."

The Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad is intended to do this very thing—reaching out into a territory that have no roads, of untold resources and hidden wealth and whose people are earnestly desirous of the opportunity to come to Fayetteville again.

The laboring man is or should be intensely interested in this great work, for it will give employment to hundreds of operatives, while being built and afterwards as well. Money will be put in circulation, and that will help the current of trade and benefit the public generally; it will furnish work to the laborer and "bread to the eater."

Upon the subscription being carried, the tax-payers can be secured by the board of commissioners depositing the bonds in a safe place, to be paid out upon the completion of the grading of the road to Aberdeen, or they could safely do better than that, by issuing to the contractors $5,000 of the bonds for the first five miles; when graded to like amount for the second section of five miles and so on, thus paying out the $30,000 of bonds, for thirty miles of graded road—as it is graded in sections of five miles.

This will give the builder better terms in the contract of construction and insure the safe output of the bonds, by paying for the goods when delivered. Let every one carefully consider this important matter in all its bearings and vote to secure this road. TAX-PAYER.

Duplin Notes.

KENANSVILLE, N. C.,
Sept. 26, 1891.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Quite a number of our people attended the Fife meetings in Clinton last week, among whom were Prof. and Mrs. W. M. Shaw, Mrs. Albert Williams, Misses Lula and Rossie Williams and Mr. James M. Archer.

Mrs. B. F. Hall and three children, John, Jessie and Janie, left for their home in Wilmington Tuesday, after a stay of two months, which has been very much enjoyed by friends and relatives here. Mrs. Hall leaves her son, Louis, to continue his studies in the Kenansville High School.

Mrs. Capt. W. R. Kenan and her daughters, Misses Jessie and Sallie, after three weeks pleasantly spent with Miss Annie Kenan, returned home Thursday. Miss Jessie, whose musical voice has been such a source of enjoyment to those who have had the pleasure of hearing her sing, expects to be present at the opening of the Musical Festival in Raleigh.

Dr. Matthews arrived last night, and will join the party to-day who are going out on a deer-hunt.

Mr. Evander McNair Carr is taking a course of higher mathematics under Hon. B. F. Grady, and expects this writer to take a course in civil engineering at the University of North Carolina. His brother, Mr. R. B. Carr, is taking a course under Mr. R. W. Millard.

Everyone is delighted that Mrs. W. M. Shaw has consented to take charge of the primary department of the Kenansville High School.

Our girls are fortunate in having such thorough and efficient musical instructors and Mrs. Capt. J. G. Kenan and Mrs. W. M. Shaw.

Miss Emily Kenan, we learn, has entered the senior class in music at Notre Dame.

The A. & N. C.

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., Sept. 24.—Mr. W. S. Chadwick was re-elected President of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad here to-day. No change was made in the State directors. The private stockholders elected Messrs. Morehead, Faison, Borden and Cutler. The question of acceptance of the act of the legislature authorizing the extension was accepted upon approval of the President and the Board of Directors.

DIED.

BYRD—In Fayetteville, N. C., on the 8th of September, 1891, Miss FANNIE BYRD, aged about 52 years.

A faithful one is gone—yes, gone from the toils and cares of this life, we trust, to a brighter realm above where, "sickness and sorrow, pain and death, are felt and feared no more." E. C. SELL.

Fayetteville, N. C, Sept. 28, 1891.

DESIRABLE FOR LADIES.

The new Fashion Journals published by A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York, are again on our table. The superiority of these journals is abundantly shown on every page. "La Mode" is the smallest of the three, and is intended for family use. It has many styles for children, and is only $1.50 per year, or 15 cents per copy. "La Mode de Paris" is an elegant journal, filled with everything of the latest style in Paris. This is a great favorite with ladies who wish to keep posted in the new styles as they come out. "Album des Modes" is also a popular Parisian publication, many ladies giving it the preference. It is replete with such styles as are patronized by the middle classes, its designs being neat and plain, yet all of the richest character. These three monthly journals claim to give the earliest fashions, and they are all printed in Paris. They contain lessons in practical dressmaking, which are of incomparable value and easy to understand. "La Mode de Paris" and the "Album des Modes" are each $3.50 per annum, or 35 cents for a single copy. Samples can be obtained from the house at single copy prices if there is any difficulty in obtaining them from newsdealers.

Thereby Hangs a Tale.

"And so, from hour to hour, we ripe and ripe,
And then, from hour to hour, we rot and rot,
And thereby hangs a tale."

And truly, "'tis a tale of woe," of one who had Catarrh in the Head, for many years, and who really had been "rotting," from hour to hour, until Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy came to his notice. He used it at first with slight signs of relief, but he persisted until a permanent cure was effected, and the world was again pleasant to live in. From his awful suffering he was set free by the expenditure of a few dollars in the t incomparable remedy.

Pensive and Expensive.

Many a woman shrinks from consulting a physician about functional derangements and weakness, and prefers to suffer in silence. She is sad and pensive, and her neglect or her ailments will prove expensive. It may cost her her life. One of the most skillful physicians of the day, who has had a vast experience in curing diseases peculiar to women, has prepared a remedy which is of inestimable aid to them. We refer to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the only remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded.

GRATIFYING TO ALL.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

The many remarkable cures of catarrh effected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is conclusive proof that this loathsome and dangerous disease is one of the blood, only needing such a searching and powerful alterative to thoroughly eradicate it.

☞ No nausea or griping after using Brookfield's Liver and Kidney Pills. For sale by Fayetteville Druggists.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A BOON TO THE SICK.

Dr. King's Royal Germetner is endorsed by Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., who says: "It is a great remedy." Rev. Sam P. Jones says: "I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine." Thousands of others attest its virtues. Fifty gallons are drunk in Atlanta daily, where it is performing remarkable cures. It removes the cause of disease and builds up from the first dose. Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc., to King's Royal Germetner Co., Atlanta, Ga. IT CURES WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. Price, $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. Can be sent by express C. O. D. if your druggist cannot supply you.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well-known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist, and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system, and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters.—Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.—Price 50 cts. and $1.00 per bottle, at B. A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it, and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OPEN LETTER No. 8.

To the Citizens of Fayetteville and Surrounding Country.

From the reliability and popularity of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee, I respectfully ask your attention to the following letters of endorsement by parties who have tested this time-tried Company:

J. H. McADEN, Pres't. J. R. HOLLAND, Cashier.
C. N. G. BUTT, Ass't Cashier.

MERCHANTS' AND FARMERS' NATIONAL BANK.
No. 1781.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 24, 1890.

I regard the Northwestern Mutual as one of the best companies in existence. I think it without exception one of the soundest organizations and the best for the policy-holder. I now hold three policies in this company, and would not change them for any other. My dividends are much larger than in any other companies in which I carry life insurance, and my insurance as safe in this as any other. The affairs of the company are safely and conservatively managed; they pay promptly and are exceedingly fair and liberal with their policy-holders. J. H. MCADEN,

Messrs. John B. Cary & Son, Richmond, Va.:

GENTLEMEN:—I have three policies in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, aggregating $20,000 insurance; the first taken in 1884. I am entirely satisfied with the results, which have exceeded my expectations in regard to dividends. In comparing these with my dividends on policies in other companies, I have no hesitation in giving preference to the Northwestern. I believe it to be as safe and well-managed as any other company. Yours truly,

D. Humphreys, Esq., Agent Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Norfolk, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—You ask how I like my policies in the Northwestern Life Insurance Company. In reply I have to say that I carried one policy in that Company for eight years, and was so well pleased with it that I then took another policy for $10,000 on the twenty-year endowment plan in the same company, and that I would not exchange these policies (now covering upon my life for $20,000) for the policies of any other company I know of. I consider the company the best for the policyholders, and do not hesitate to commend it to my friends. Very respectfully,
N. BURRUSS.

Col. John B. Cary, Richmond, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in stating that I have successively taken in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company four policies aggregating $30,000, canceling $10,000 I had in other companies because results or dividends in your company were so much better.

It is needless to say that I consider the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company as standing very high and offering advantages superior to others, else I should not have given it this decided preference.

Very truly yours,
E. SCHAEFER.

to plain facts about the Kabo corset. You can't break the bones—for one thing. If you do, within a year, you'll have your money back. Soft eyelets—that's another thing that can't be had with other corsets. And hear how it's sold: if you're not satisfied, after a few weeks' wear, you can return it and get your money.

The Needs of the Alliance.

For the Observer.]

To the Farmers' Alliance of N. C.:

Brothers, as one of you, I venture to express opinion on a question affecting not only the good of the order, but the good of society and of the State; not for a day, but for all time.

Let it be premised that I am in entire accord with you in all rational and patriotic purpose looking to the betterment of our condition as a class. My membership is almost coeval with the inception of the order, and was taken deliberately and under the conviction that coalition and mutual interchange of opinion on social and economic questions would inure to the amelioration of the agricultural masses. Especially that it would lead to right conclusion on one of the most vital of questions affecting freemen—taxation. That opinion has undergone no change, and is not likely to, so long as the original and proclaimed objects aimed at are observed in all sanctity. These, however, once disregarded, or the metes and bounds once overstepped, it is, to my limited ken and forecast, fraught with incalculable mischief to the farming in common with all other classes, callings and professions. Adopting the postulate of statesmen and historians that love of liberty has ever been the preeminent trait of land-owners, I address you from that standpoint, assuming as correlative that kings, kaisers and tricksters are the sole gainers by abatement of that inherent principle; and of them all most dangerous the last. Deliver us, good Lord, from overzealous friends, especially when they come in thin disguise. As is well known, non-partisanship and freedom of thought in party matters was fundamentally inculcated in our constitution, and for a while religiously maintained. How is it now? The tendency in certain quarters to disregard it now is thought by many judicious friends to be pernicious in the last degree, disintergrating to the brotherhood, and dynamitical to unity, good government and liberty.

Let us then cry halt, and counsel together, brothers, lest, perchance, that fatal blunder is committed. In the incipiency of the Alliance, and until quite recently no intimation was let fall of its resolving itself into a third party. That was a purely afterthought, and one of most questionable paternity. Judged by the inevitable result which would follow its adoption by any considerable offshoot of the Alliance, the motives of its projectors may well be impugned. African domination, a return to the dark, disgraceful days of reconstruction, the almost certain effect; personal emolument, pecuniary or political, the actuating impulse of those who set it agoing. Brothers of the Alliance, are you prepared for the sequence, sure to follow, if your worthy organization sinks into a mere political machine to be run, regardless of your true interest and sound state polity, by selfish schemers of the sort referred to? Are you willing to become a stepping-stone for knaves and demagogues in their mad reach for power? Are you ambitious to wear the dog-collar of dogmatic and dictatorial leaders, who go gunning on their own account; or to take the ill-concocted nostrums of charlatans and quacks as an unfailing panacea, a universal cure—all for existing political ills? If so, then count me out; for so am not I, and so are not nine-tenths of the Alliance, unless I mistake, who prefer the homely teachings of farmers Jefferson and Madison and Jackson to the clap-trap and crude conceits of such as these. The idea of the third party, or, to be more exact, of splitting the Democratic party, which in our State, probably makes up nine-tenths of the Alliance, should have had birth in another political latitude, and been indoctrinated in our midst by teachers heretofore inimical to our preconceived tenets and line of thought, should at least "give us a pause." Life-long Republicans of recent importation or instantaneous conversion are doubtful leaders to follow, and naturally come under the head of "suspects." Beware of such, for sinister purpose and transparent is at the bottom. The movement took root in a recent convention in which our State, and, in fact, the entire South, was virtually unrepresented, and which was composed mainly of the most radical element of the North. Is such a body fit midwife to usher in a scheme affecting our well-being through all time to come? What was proposed? To formulate on the instant a substitute for all antecedent ideas on government, and to require all men and all parties, under penalty of boycott and lanathema, to fall down and worship their Fetich. This modest assumption might well appall a congress of Platos, Aristotles and Bacons, backed by all the polltical acumen of a thousand centuries. Sound political thought is rarely spasmodic or of sudden development.

Admitted for argument, that neither of the two existing parties has reached that state of absolute purity and perfection which dreamers and visionaries see, or affect to see, in the near future; does it not, nevertheless, behoove patriots to pin their faith to that which nearest approaches that beatific but unattainable state by man or party, and to shun the one whose nearest approach thereto is in empty promise or blatant profession? It were an insult to your intelligence to enter upon proof which is which, except to challenge proof that the one has ever encroached upon the rights of person or of property, and to challenge refutation that the other has repeatedly done it, and tried to do it from its ill-starred birth to the immediate present. The first is coeval with the century, the last with civil strife. Choose ye between the two. As you choose, so will probably follow white or negro supremacy. Which will you have?

You have tried both. Which is most conducive to you self-respect, your manhood and material progress? Of course no good Alliance man or good citizen would deliberately and with open eyes vote Africa. If done indirectly and by roundabout process the responsibility is none the less. It is safe to assume that none of the new party syndicate anticipate the possibility of its success in the next recurring election. Why, then, their effort to make it a factor?

The conclusion is irresistible: to pull down the white man, and to rehabilitate the negro in political sway for purposes of their own. With the proverbial unity of the last on voting day, it requires no skilled mathematician to foretell the result, if twenty or five and twenty thousand Alliancemen can be induced to stultify themselves by going away on wild-cat side-issues and acting with a so-called third party, powerless for good, but potential for mischief. Brothers, will you be party to such a transparent trick?

If so, "God save the old Commonwealth, for if He don't, God knows who will much longer." Oh, comrades, let it not be said that the chiefest champions of liberty from "grand old gardener" down, those identified with the soil, shall be the first to strike the matricidal blow against a State consecrated to freedom. Perish rather a thousand, or a thousand thousand political Jeremy Diddlers and false teachers before such dreadful calamity shall befall. Brothers, we are on the brink, a fatal brink. Do you propose to be taken by the nose and led over. If so, again count me out. For one, I'm no candidate for suicide. For one, my back is no fit spring-board for the foot of vaulting ambition. The primal injunction of England's grandest sea-king to his middies was: "Hate a Frenchman as you do the devil." To plagiarize without profanity, hate the man or men who would fain strike a blow, direct or covert, against the party begotten of Jefferson, and born to be immortal for being most rational in the sight of Deity and most considerate of the rights of man; hate him I say, and a thousand-fold hate him, whether he be in or out of the Alliance, as honest old Nelson hated his Gælic neighbor across the channel. Even without Scriptural permit positive and expressed, I can but believe (God help me if I misbelieve) that there are times and occasions and offenders when hate comes in as an imperative duty.

And now in conclusion, brothers, to escape the suspicion of selfish promptings in this, my puny appeal for civil liberty, permit me to say that I crave nothing that you have to give except the heritage of freedom unimpaired. Be true to yourselves if subjected to the cruical test, and you have my quittance of all scores past and prospective. Official station I have never much craved, and now with advancing years am learning to despise. Hence, should my name, perchance, ever be presented for your suffrage, whether in convention or at the polls, you stand absolved beforehand and exonerated in opposition.

In true Alliance and Democratic faith, which I hold to be synonymous, I am,

Yours fraternally,

WHARTON J. GREEN.

The Truth Has Never Hurt.

Concord Times.]

We restate and reaffirm what Mr. Anderson seems to be astounded at—the Democratic party of North Carolina last year incorporated into its platform, without opposition or discussion, every demand made of it by the Alliance. The following are the exact facts, which are a matter of history:

The Democratic platform was adopted August 20th, 1890. Capt. S. A. Ashe, chairman of the platform committee, stated, in his report to the convention, that when the committee was about to report Mr. E. C. Beddingfield, then the Secretary of the Alliance, laid before it six resolutions, which were then assented to in toto by the committee. The convention adopted the platform, including Mr. Beddingfield's resolutions, which are now a part and parcel of the Democratic faith of the State.

Now, of course, Mr. Beddingfield did not, personally and alone, assume the responsibility of appearing before the committee and asking it to incorporate these resolutions in its platform. They were, of course, prepared by an Alliance committee, by and with the consent of the Alliance. Now, since the Democratic party of North Carolina last year granted every request made of it by the Alliance is it not "unfair," is it not "unjust," at this day to seek to create the impression that the Democratic party turns a deaf ear to all Alliance entreaty, and absolutely refuses to make concession? It is our turn to be "astounded"—astounded at Mr. Anderson's ignorance of the facts as above stated. He will do well to read up a little on modern political history.

Under the platform as above adopted, the Democratic party went before the people last year and gained a signal victory. The same platform now exists. Would Mr. Anderson have the Alliance to repudiate this platform, which is its own creation, and then abuse the Democrats for not bolting with it? If not, why does he attack the Democratic party and press, and say that the party cannot get the Alliance vote unless it adopts the whole Ocala demands?

We have not entered into this discussion simply for the matter of discussion. Our only object is to do good. As Mr. Anderson says, "the truth can never hurt." The truth is what we want to show.

The Confederate Veterans' Association of North Carolina.

The following call has been issued:

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 23, 1891.

The Confederate Veterans' Association of North Carolina will hold its annual meeting in Raleigh on Thursday, October 15th.

Every veteran is earnestly invited to attend. It is hoped that every North Carolina regiment will be represented. A flag for each brigade of cavalry and infantry and battalion of artillery has been prepared for the occasion.

The meeting will be called to order at 11 o'clock A. M., sharp, in the grand stand at the exposition grounds.

After the annual election of officers short addresses will be delivered by the Governor and distinguished ex-soldiers. At 12 o'clock there will be a grand review and parade.

Prohibition in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 24.—Under the auspices of the Good Templars Lodge of Columbia twenty-five thousand petitions for signatures asking the legislature to enact a law prohibiting the liquor traffic in South Carolina, are being sent out. Each petition is accompanied with a circular letter urging the people to sign, and the names attached are those of H. F. Chreitbrog and S. P. H. Elwell, pastors of the Methodist churches here, and John A. Glenn. A bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors got a respectable vote in the legislature of 1889, and it is believed that if backed up by a numerously signed petition the coming legislature will enact a prohibitory law.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE.

I WISH TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF the people of this section to the fact that my mammoth Gin House will soon be completed, and will be equipped with the best 60-saw gin made; also feeder and condenser. The house is beautifully located on my farm, one fourth of a mile north of Lee's Cross Roads—almost direct between here and Dunn, a fine cotton market. I will be able to gin your cotton in a few weeks, and you can take it on to town, and I will pay market price for your seed. I very kindly ask the people to give me their first bale, and should they not be satisfied I ask no more. I will gin for the 25th, and give your cotton every care in my power. My house will be well arranged for caring for several bales at once. Satisfaction guaranteed. I am yours very truly,

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Complimentary Ball.

The social event of the week will be a ball at Williams Hall Friday evening, complimentary to Miss Hicks, of Faison, and Miss McPherson, of Wilmington.

Meeting of Fayetteville Presbytery.

Fayetteville Presbytery meets at Dunn next Wednesday, the 7th inst. Rev. P. R. Law authorizes us to say that the railroads have all agreed to give reduced rates to delegates attending this meeting.

One Hundred Thousand Shingles.

From all accounts the Greensboro Steel and Iron Works mean business. The Huske Hardware House of this city having received an order a few days since for one hundred thousand shingles to be shipped at once.

Score One More for the F. I. L. I.

The F. I. L. I. Company has received a voucher from the Executive Department at Raleigh for the annual appropriation of $250.00, made by a special act of the last General Assembly, and to which no military organization in the State is more justly entitled.

Cotton.

Within the past few days the price of cotton has assumed an upward tendency, and middling is quoted on the Fayetteville market at 7⅞, against 7½ last week. The demand is strong and active for the better grades and our buyers all have orders which they find difficult to fill on account of the light receipts.

Hon. B. F. Grady to Speak in Williams Hall To-night.

Hon. B. F. Grady, of Duplin, member of Congress from this Congressional District, will speak in the Opera House to-night, beginning at 8 o'clock sharp. Mr. Grady is a very able man, an entertaining speaker, and we hope as many will turn out as possible to greet him on this, his first effort in Fayetteville.

Wonderful Success.

At Clinton, where Evangelist Fife committed many of his greatest sins in the past, his efforts seem to have been most graciously blessed and liberally rewarded in the conversion of souls to Christ, during the meeting held there last week. Over four hundred professions are reported and more than three hundred persons have already given in their names for membership in the churches of the various denominations.

A Compliment to Col. Sutton.

On Monday morning, at his office on Green street, Col. Sutton had presented to him a beautiful gold watch, inscribed: "To Thos. H. Sutton, from the citizens of Fayetteville, N. C." The presentation was made by Hon. Geo. M. Rose; and, when we say that it was one of his happiest efforts we are saying a great deal. Mr. Rose is always a beautiful speaker, and he was particularly eloquent and animated. Mr. Sutton, accepting the gift, made a very graceful recognition of the compliment, saying that, while business relations made it profitable to make Winston his home, he should never forget the people of Fayetteville—that they were his first and dearest love. The conclusion of his remarks was very tender and eloquent.

Maj. W. B. Draughon Chief Marshal.

At a special meeting of the officers and members of the Cumberland County Agricultural and Mechanical Society, held on Tuesday, Maj. W. B. Draughon was chosen and unanimously elected Chief Marshal for the Cumberland Fair this year, with Messrs. John Underwood, C. L. Campbell, John D. Williams, Jr., (2), Jennings Pemberton, W. C. McDuffie, Jr., and A. J. Cook as members of the Chief Marshal's staff. Chief Marshal Draughon is now hard at work selecting his assistants from the adjoining counties and different parts of the State. The selection of Maj. Draughon was a happy hit for the Association, and everybody seems delighted with the appointment. He is in the prime of manhood, a strong and zealous friend, and enthusiastic worker for the Fair, and already the public enjoys the assurance that "Buck" Draughon will leave no wheels unturned and no stones unmoved for a grand success in every line.

Races for the Cumberland Fair.

Below we give the programme of races—running and trotting—for the Cumberland Fair this year. The purses are by far the largest ever offered by any Fair Association in the State, and those who attend the Fair in November next will have an opportunity to witness some of the finest racing by the best horses of the Carolinas:

FIRST DAY—WEDNESDAY, NOV. 4th.

Trotting—To Harness—Best 2 in 3, Mile Heats. First Prize, $20.00; Second, $5.00.

Running—Half Mile Dash. First Prize, $10.00; Second, $5.00

First day's races limited to Cumberland County Horses.

SECOND DAY—THURSDAY, NOV. 5th.

The Fair Dances—Floor Managers, &c.

Determined to make the grand annual ball of the Cumberland Fair this year the equal if not superior in many respects to any social gathering hitherto held in the State, the young men of the city met one night the past week and outlined the following programme for the Fair dances, arranged the necessary preliminaries and set the wheels in motion for an event that will do credit to Fayetteville's chivalry and society circles and honor and brilliancy to the occasion:

German, November 4th; leader, J. A. Moore, assisted by H. H. Covington and E. D. Kyle.

Fair Ball, November 6th; General Managers, E. D. Kyle and J. A. Moore.

Floor Managers: S. H. Strange, J. A. Moore, J. R. Williams, J. B. Tillinghast, E. D. Kyle, Andrew Broadfoot, A. B. Williams, Jr., H. H. Covington.

Invitation Committee: Leighton Huske, Jas. Kyle, J. H. Robinson, A. J. Pemberton, J. D. Williams, Jr., (2), J. C. Thomson.

Reception Committee: Dr. H. W. Lilly, H. J. Marsh, A. G. Harrall, A. J. Cook, C. L. Campbell, A. S. Wightman, W. F. Leak, J. R. Williams.

Honorary Managers: A. B. Williams, W. E. Kyle, E. J. Lilly, J. C. Haigh, J. B. Broadfoot, R. W. Bidgood, Chas. Haigh, J. C. MacRae, W. N. Williams.

To carry out in good style the plans already agreed upon will entail upon the young men of Fayetteville quite an expense, which should be shared to some extent by the merchants of whom they purchase their toilet and other necessaries. The fair ball has long been everywhere recognized and looked forward to as the social feature of the occasion, and the young men of the city will never allow it to lose any of its prestine glory and attractions.

A "Flying Trip."

A brief trip to Wilmington a few days since gave us a birds' eye view of the crops through parts of Cumberland, Harnett, Johnston, Wayne, Duplin, Pender and New Hanover, all of which gave unmistakable evidence of having sustained heavy losses by the recent bad weather, and cotton in particular, which we believe will not exceed two-thirds of a crop on an average.

At Wilmington we were handsomely entertained at the elegant and magnificently arranged Orton, by that prince of hotelists, Mr. J. E. Montague, whose refined taste and admirable management has made the Orton one of the most delightful rendezvouses in the country, and which we are glad to learn is enjoying a career for prosperity almost unparalleled in its history.

Steadily Increasing.

The volume of business transacted at this place continues to increase. As evidence of this fact it is only necessary to note that, with the beginning of the fall trade here the C. F. & Y. V. Railway finds it necessary to run extra trains between Fayetteville and Greensboro, Bennettsville and Wilmington. Our business men are fully abreast with the times and are laying in heavy supplies of merchandise of every description to supply the demands upon them.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. Company takes place here to-day. Among the syndicate and stockholders in attendance we notice President Lash, General Manager Fry, Vice-President Gray, Maj. J. Turner Morehead, Capt. J. E. Gilmer, Col. John W. Scott, J. M. Vaughn, W. A. Moore, G. W. Williams, R. T. Gray, D. W. C. Benbow.

People and their Movements.

Mrs. J. W. Morriss is spending a few days with friends in Smithfield.

Miss Eliza Rose has returned home from a visit to friends in Greensboro and other points.

The family of Rev. Dr. W. H. Moore returned last week from an extended vacation to friends in Chatham and elsewhere.

Mrs. Ella L. Hunter, of Rock Hill, S. C., who has been spending a few days with her brother, G. W. Lake, in this city, left for her home last Saturday.

Marion Butler, Esq., of Clinton, President of the State Farmers' Alliance and editor of the Caucasian, passed through Fayetteville Saturday last en route to the western part of the State.

Mr. C. P. Hill, of Richmond, Va., succeeds Mr. Cobb, as manager for the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company in this city, and takes charge to-day.

Editor McDiarmid of the Lumberton Robesonian, paid us a pleasant visit last week. In the course of his conversation he forgot himself and "smoiled," after which we were made to feel that "life is not an empty dread," and that the soul is not always dead that occasionally slumbers.

Mr. J. A. Lambeth returned from Louisville, Monday, with a lot of fine horses from the "blue grass regions."

"Black Beauty."

We have received from Capt. W. S. Kingsbury a number of copies of "Black Beauty," a little book published in Boston, Mass., by the American Humane Education Society, 19 Mielk Street, Geo. T. Angell, President.

It is the autobiography of a horse. Did you know that a horse could talk? "Black Beauty" talks; and, oh! how she does score humankind for cruelty—cruelty from brutality, cruelty from recklessness, cruelty from ignorance of nature's law. "Black Beauty," in a very simple way (and with a good deal of "horse sense"—for he came of good blood, his mother being one of the finest breeders in the country, and his brother, "Bob Roy," having died the glorious death of "staking" himself in his efforts to be first in a hunt), tells the story of his life, from the time he began to munch grass until he was "retired" by a kind old lady.

We shall put this book in the schools as far as we can do so with our limited number. They must pass the little volume around, two or three boys and girls to each copy, and then will give a prize to the best essay on "Black Beauty" by the 1st of January, 1892, in the Graded School.

We hope that the children may learn a lesson from this little book. We have long passed the period when sentiment has a controlling influence on our thoughts and actions; but more than once the tear started in our eye when reading this beautiful little sketch of sorely-tried "Black Beauty."

We have great hope of organizing a "Young People's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" after we shall have distributed "Black Beauty." Capt. Hingsbury has our hearty thanks for his gift; and, in his old age, he may be certain that he has done nothing better than in being the instrument of teaching children to cultivate the godly spirit of kindliness to the brute creation.

Religious Notes.

Dr. W. H. Moore announced on last Sunday morning that a series of meetings would begin in Hay Street M. E. Church next Sunday night, continuing throughout the week and longer if sufficient interest was manifested. In the conduct of the meetings Dr. Moore will be ably assisted by Rev. H. P. Hoyle, of Maxton, a Virginian by birth, and reputed to be a very entertaining preacher.

Rev. Jno. M. Rose, Synodical Evangelist for North Carolina, will preach in the Presbyterian Church here next Sunday morning and night. Mr. Rose's ability and powers as a preacher are too well known to our people to need any commendation at our hands.

Rev. W. B. Wingate, of Greensboro will fill Rev. W. B. Oliver's pulpit at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning and night.

At the Baptist Church last Sunday services were conducted by Rev. F. M. Royal, of Sampson, a young, though brilliant minister of the gospel.

List of Letters.

Following is the list of unclaimed letters remaining in the Fayetteville postoffice September 28th, 1891:

Henry Baldwin, Ellen Bramble, Luey C. Brown, Francis Boykins, H. J. Carver, Sarah J. Cain, Mr. Cranberry, S. H. Cotton, Mrs. Eliza Elliott, Elliot Furniture Co., Betsie Farrish, Clarica Gaston, Harriet Green, Mrs. T. L. Gibson, F. G. Gould, Mat. Hatcher, Jim Haymond, W. S. Harris, Nancy Hall, Mrs. Kate B. Hill, Andrew Keith, A. Mueller, Sarah Monroe, Charley McFaden, Mrs. J. H. Nixon, Fannie A. Powers, W. R. Sharp, Laura Stephens, Milton Stephens, Hal. Smith, Dud. Turley, W. H. Williams.

Not a Miracle, Now.

Until recently Consumption was considered incurable, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. The cure of Consumption is not a miracle, now. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength-restorer, alterative or blood cleanser, and nutritive, or flesh-builder, known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, "Liver Complaint," and Dyspepsia or Indigestion, it is an unequaled remedy.

Heavy Shipments.

We believe that Greensboro claims to be the best shipping point on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway for fruit. It may be. We are not disposed to underrate the work of Van Lindley and other extensive nurserymen. But just go around to the passenger depot of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway some day between 2:45 and 3:15 if you want to see grapes go off in a hurry. They are being expressed, not by baskets but by scores of baskets—going in every direction, but, of course mostly north and west. There is a great heap of the luscious fruit awaiting each train; and Mr. Howell—who, by the way, is one of the best express agents that any town ever had—has his hands full. Mr. A. S. Huske—who in the business-like, methodical way that he does everything, puts up his packages very carefully—is the heaviest shipper; but, of course, there are many others.

The people of this section—who are nothing if not loyal to the scuppernong grape and turpentine—will be glad to know that that old standard variety is being sent abroad in large quantities. The bunches are cut, and thus it keeps very well. Where the grapes used to be separately pulled they quickly perished on account of "bleeding," as we believe the technical term is.

OFFICE OF YORK ENTERPRISE,
YORKVILLE, S. C., Aug. 14, '91.

ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE—Gentlemen: For the past five years my wife has been a sufferer from dyspepsia. So completely did the disease make a wreck of her former self that life was almost despaired of. Her nervous system was almost entirely destroyed, and the slightest noise would throw her into a nervous spasm, which would last for hours. Medical skill failed to bring any relief.

Through the recommendation of an eminent divine we were induced to try the Electropoise. After a persistent use of the instrument, the effect has been wonderful. Her nervous system has been restored to its almost normal condition; her digestion is wonderfully improved; she is rapidly gaining in flesh; and, upon the whole, is making a rapid recovery, which speaks volumes for the wonderful curative powers of the Electropoise, as her case was considered hopeless. If any are skeptical on the subject, let them try the Electropoise, and its wonderful powers will quickly dispel all doubt.

Yours truly, W. M. PROPST.

The River of Rest.

The still, wide waters sweep clear and cold,
A tall mast crosses a star in the west,
A white sail gleams in the west world's gold;
It leans to the shore of the River of Rest—
The lily-lined shore of the River of Rest.

The boatman rises; he reaches a hand,
He knows you well, he will steer you true,
And far, so far from all ills upon land,
From hates, from fates that pursue and pursue
Far over the lily-lined River of Rest—
Dear mystical, magical River of Rest.

A storied, sweet stream is this River of Rest;
The souls of all time keep the ultimate shore;
And, journey you east, or journey you west,
Unwilling, or willing, sure-footed, or sore,
You surely will come to this River of Rest—
This beautiful, beautiful River of Rest.

"Beyond the Mist."

Beyond the mist are sunlit leagues of sea,
And towering peaks by lingering sunshine kissed,
Where heaven's light doth shine eternally—
Beyond the mist.

Could we but pierce the haze;
Could we but list
To some far voices from the shore, would we
Still in these dolorous waves of doubt persist?

Can we not see the stars above that be?
Is there not one to guide our bark I wist,
Lost mariners upon life's troubled sea—
Beyond the mist?

Management of Sheep.

Boston Cultivator.]

There is no farm stock that will so quickly run down as sheep, if poorly cared for, and none require more care in feeding. The average usefulness of sheep does not extend above seven or eight years, and they are at their best when four to six years old. Unless old ewes are sold off a little before they pass their limit they will prove barren, or their lambs will lack vigor and vitality. In one case only is it allowable to sell young and vigorous ewes, and that is where the ewe lost her lamb and becomes too fat for breeding. This does not often happen until the ewe has a full mouth, for while the teeth are growing sheep will not become too fat on ordinary pasture alone. If a ewe loses a lamb she should be put on the poorest feed, and every effort made to keep her from becoming too fat. But when sheep get past age put them in a flock by themselves, and feed a few oats every day through the summer. They will be fat by fall; while, if al owed to remain poor and then be grain-fed, when put on dry feed for winter, the sheep will lose flesh and probably die before spring in spite of all that can be done. A half pound of oats per sheep daily at pasture will put more flesh and fat on old sheep than any feed can do in winter. Oats are the best grain for beginning to feed old sheep. They do not need grinding. If on this they show a gain, replace a small part of the oats with beans or corn, and decrease the amount in doing so until it is seen that the sheep are not cloyed. Every time a new feed is given decrease the grain ration for a week or more. A very little oil meal mixed with oats fattens old sheep better than anything else.

Farming vs. Planting.

Facts for Farmers.]

We frequently hear men speak of "resting" land, particularly in the cotton belt. By "resting" they mean allowing a field to lie a year between crops of cotton, and grow up in all manner of weeds and grass and ripen quantities of seed to give trouble in future crops. Now, as we before remarked, we can not "stimulate" inert matter; neither can we "rest" it. Land does not get tired; it simply gets starved. The so-called practice of "resting" is a little better, in some respects, than annual clean culture in cotton, inasmuch as the wild growth protects the land from the sun, and furnishes a little vegetable matter to plow under; but the true way to rest land is to feed it by keeping it at work growing crops that will add food to the soil and enable it to produce larger crops. The true use of commercial fertilizers is to give us a heavy growth of recuperative crops, between our sale crops, to enable us to feed stock and raise more home-made manure, and to store up nitrogen in the soil for other crops. And herein consists the difference between the farmer and the planter. The first uses fertilizers freely to enable him to make a store of fertility in his soil and to draw thence dividends in the shape of constantly increasing crops, while the planter draws on the original deposit in his soil until his drafts are dishonored, and then gambles in fertilizers, taking the chances of seasons as to whether they will pay him or not—his account with the soil being continually overdrawn, until the bank bursts.

Animal Odor in Milk.

Edinburgh Farmers' World.]

There is a great deal of talk among dairymen about the animal odor in milk. If one will test the milk of cows kept in filthy byres, and upon whose sides filth is permitted to collect in adherent flakes, in this way, the foulness will be very apparent. This odor has been called sometimes the animal odor, and has been thought to be inseparable from the cow. This is wholly untrue. It is the odor of filth which has every characteristic of manure, and which is discharged with the milk because it could not escape through the skin, which is the natural outlet for it, and by which it would escape freely and imperceptibly if the skin were kept clean and in healthful action by means of thorough brooming every day. Good ventilation of stables will help in the matter.

The Ideal Fowl.

New York Witness.]

The ideal fowl is a very practical sort of bird. One that is plump, fine-flavored and quick in growth; this is what anyone wants in a broiler—a good rooster with heavy breasts, tender flesh. As layers, we want hens that will begin to lay when six months old; that will lay eggs two ounces in weight, with rich yellow yolks. Every hen should lay at least 200 eggs, and rear a brood of chicks the first year and a half of her life.

This is not wanting too much, but there are many fowls kept on the farm that fail to come up to what constitutes good, practical stock. It is a poor policy to retain poultry which does not return an equivalent for its feed

☞ The side-tracks of Western railroads are reported as being filled with cars loaded with wheat waiting a chance to be hauled eastward, and the pressure on the traffic resources of the roads is being seriously felt. The moving of 200,000 bushels of wheat to the seaboard is a much larger operation than is generally imagined. It is said that there has been nothing at all like it since 1880–'81, when the pressure of transportation was distributed over a longer period than is likely to be in this harvest year.

Capt. J. D. Johnston.

To all whom it may concern:—I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular remedy for eruptions of the skin known as P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium). I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face, and tried various remedies to remove it, none of which accomplished the object until this valuable preparation was resorted to. After taking three bottles, in accordance with directions, I am now entirely cured. J. D. JOHNSTON,

Wilmington, N. C. Oct —1y

$3000 A YEAR! I undertake to briefly teach any fairly intelligent person of either sex, who can read and write, and who, after instruction, will work industriously, how to earn Three Thousand Dollars a Year in their own localities, wherever they live. I will also furnish the situation or employment, at which you can earn that amount. No money for me unless successful as above. Easily and quickly learned. I desire but one worker from each district or county. I have already taught and provided with employment a large number, who are making over $3000 a year each. It's NEW and SOLID. Full particulars FREE. Address at once, E. C. ALLEN, Box 420, Augusta, Maine.

NOTICE!

Steam Saw Mill for Sale.

I offer for sale the KLARPP STEAM SAW MILL, located on Big Rockfish, just immediately between the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. and the Atlantic Coast Line —not exceeding 400 feet from either road. The plant consists of a 40-horse power engine and boiler, 52 inch saw, log-drag, &c.—a complete saw-mill outfit. Location unsurpassed, both for the purchase of logs and timber; excellent freight facilities, &c., thereby enabling one to use either through line for the shipment of lumber. Capacity 10,000 feet per day. Any one needing such property would do well to examine it. For terms, &c., apply to
